

Workshop: Improving Workplace Communication

* Customized

Does your communication style get in the way of connecting in a meaningful way? In this multigenerational work environment, working with leaders, co-workers, clients, vendors, or even family members who think and communicate differently than you, can make them difficult and a challenge. Learn the strategies in working with the people in your life. Working better together starts by knowing how you like to communicate, which will prepare you to deal with other personality styles. This personalized workshop gives you the proven strategies to improve your communication approach and flex your style to work and communicate more effectively with others across generations.

Who

Professionals at every level in the organization, and in all functional areas looking to improve their ability to communicate with everyone they come in contact with... including co-workers, vendors, clients, customers, and even the boss.

Time

5 hours, not including breaks and pre-work

Format

Highly interactive delivery format, discussions and personalized pragmatic take-aways.

How You Will Benefit :

- Understand your communication / personality style
- Detailed description of your unique strengths and advantages
- Specific strategies to increase your effectiveness with others
- Strategies on how to flex your communication style for effectiveness
- Awareness of unhealthy behaviors and limitations
- Strategies on working through conflict with others to improve workplace relationships

* Note: Workshop can be customized for specific groups (managers, leaders, sales, general workplace)