

Workshop: Leading a Multigenerational Workforce

Understand how to adapt to the changing workforce of generational diversity. Learn how to create a work environment that taps into the strengths of your talent across the generational gaps. This program is based on years of Deanne's ground-breaking research on generation gaps and her recent research with 3,000 working millennials on motivation. This workshop includes our proprietary workshop materials.

Who

Helping your organization- senior leaders, directors, managers, supervisors, and team leads learn how to lead more effectively with multiple generations. Participants should be committed to implementation after the workshop.

Time

5 hours, not including breaks

Format

Highly interactive delivery format, with case studies, discussion, and pragmatic take-aways

How You Will Benefit:

- * Recognize the 7 strategic drivers that influence an employees decision to stay or look for another job opportunity
- * Learn the leaders new role
- * Improve the employee experience that attracts new talent
- * Understand the myth of perks, and how to use them strategically
- * Learn how to create a culture where employees want to work
- * Developing cohesive productive teams that ignite collaboration and innovation
- * Learn the latest information on motivation